

become a tradition keeper

IT'S YOUR TURN TO KEEP NC STATE'S HISTORIC ROOTS ALIVE

Student Government and the Alumni Association are leading efforts to promote student involvement while maintaining the University's rich traditions.

We hope you use The Brick during your academic career as a guide to enhance and keep track of your experiences at NC State. The Brick highlights a list of traditions you can complete to become an official NC State Tradition Keeper (TK). To become a TK, students must complete 40 traditions in their books. You can complete a tradition in many different ways, as long as you provide proof, such as a photograph, a receipt, an official TK stamp or similar mementos. Student Government officials will be present at some tradition events, like New Student Orientation, to stamp The Brick. The Alumni Association Student Ambassador Program will also host TK check-in days. Bring your copy of The Brick to log traditions. There might be opportunities to win prizes as you build your experience with traditions, so don't wait to attend a check-in day!

Every student who completes 40 traditions will receive a medal to wear at graduation. This is a reward for keeping alive the heritage of North Carolina State University. We hope The Brick will enhance your time here and leave you with a lifetime of memories on each page. GO PACK!

To receive updates about The Brick, check-in dates and medal information, email The Brick team at thebrickncstate@gmail.com with your name and contact information or stay up-to-date by liking us on Facebook at fb.com/ncsusgtraditions.

Complete 40 traditions to earn a MEDAL LIKE
THIS ONE. Photo by Alex
Sanchez.

