

spread the love

STUDENT ATHLETES PACK A PUNCH IN OTHER NON-REVENUE ARENAS

Though the football, basketball and women's basketball teams draw the most media attention, NC State also has 20 other varsity sports and more than 600 athletes who compete in NCAA Division I athletics events — and some even bring home big titles. The cheerleading and rifle teams are both single-team sports.

In 2008, the baseball team hosted its first NCAA Regional Championship and ended the season just one game away from the College World Series. The gymnastics team has also sent individuals to the NCAA Championships in four consecutive seasons, and the men's and women's cross country teams have combined for 36 conference championships.

Tickets to non-revenue sports are free for students. To get admission to a game, students only need to show up to the on-campus venue and show their student ID card.

TK

Get an autograph from an athlete who competes in a non-revenue sport.

THE ACC

As part of the Atlantic Coast Conference college athletic league, founded in 1953, the Wolfpack gets to compete against 14 other schools on the East Coast. The ACC is considered one of six "power conferences," and the ACC football champion receives an automatic bid to one of the Bowl Championship series each season.

Boston College
Eagles

Clemson Tigers

Duke Blue Devils

Florida
Seminoles

Georgia Tech
Yellow Jackets

Louisville
Cardinals

Miami
Hurricanes

Notre Dame
Fighting Irish

North Carolina
State Wolfpack

North Carolina
Tar Heels

Syracuse
Orange

Pittsburgh
Panthers

Virginia Tech
Hokies

Virginia
Cavaliers

Wake Forest
Demon Deacons