

charitable chocolate

STUDENTS SAMPLE A SWEET TREAT FOR A CAUSE, CLOSE TO HOME

Since 2004, the Women's Center has hosted the Chocolate Festival, a day-long event in October where students enjoy chocolate treats from local businesses in celebration of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. The Chocolate Festival is an annual event that combines breast cancer awareness and wellness with chocolate sampling and a silent auction. In partnership with NC State Office of Parents and Family Services, the Women's Center times the festival to coincide with a weekend of events dedicated to welcoming parents and families to the Wolfpack community. Each year, approximately 40 chocolatier and health and wellness vendors, and 100 volunteers help make this event a Wolfpack tradition. Approximately 1,200 tickets are sold to raise money for Women's Center programs and breast cancer research and education.

Place a Chocolate Festival memory here.