UNIVERSITY DINING IS WHERE WE FEED THE PACK—MORNING TO NIGHT

From a little cafeteria in Holladay Hall to recent additions throughout Main and Centennial campuses, there has always been a staff working to feed the Pack. University Dining offers three main dining halls, food courts in the Brickyard and Talley Student Union featuring national brands, convenience stores, Port City Java cafes, and other venues around campus. Students can use their meal plans, cash or credit cards at all locations.

Breakfast at any of the three main campus dining halls — Clark on East Campus, Case on Central Campus or Fountain on West Campus — brings students Belgian waffles with the Block “S” stamped in the middle.

Throughout the year, University Dining’s chefs plan special meals like the All-Carolinas Meal and Thanksgiving Dinner in addition to the daily culinary experiences offered at the dining halls.
