

No matter the skill level, classes at the CRAFTS CENTER are open to students, faculty, staff and the general public. Classes range from woodworking and glassblowing to fibers and pottery. Photo contributed by Roger Winstead.

let's get crafty

CAMPUS CRAFTS CENTER PROVIDES STUDENTS WITH ART THERAPY

Located on the first floor of Thompson Hall, the Crafts Center offers a variety of arts classes from photography to glass-blowing. The building was previously Thompson Gymnasium, which is still evident in the swimming pool floor of the wood shop. Each semester, the Crafts Center offers a new schedule of classes taught by local professionals.

Although most of the classes require a supply fee, students receive discounted prices. Through the Crafts Center, community members and students alike can take a class that lasts two to six weeks or a one or two-day workshop. Some of the workshops are for students only, such as the pinhole camera workshop. Students put together a makeshift camera, take photos and develop them.

CRAFTS CENTER CLASSES

Clay studio, wood studio and woodshop, photography studio with a black-and-white darkroom, glass studio, jewelry/metals studio, lapidary studio, fibers studio, art-on-paper. For more information about the Crafts Center, visit www.ncsu.edu/crafts.

I took a _____ class at the Crafts Center.

